

CHEST GOAL HALF MET; 'DIG DEEPER' IS WORD

Spurred by an intensive campaign last week, Y-12 employees substantially increased their contributions to the Oak Ridge Community Chest fund—but the plant still has a considerable amount to raise before its quota of $4,949.50 is reached.

Here is the picture after partial results of the returns had been tabulated last Friday morning.

Pledged and contributed before last week—approximately $2,100.

Pledged and contributed in solicitations made Thursday and Friday morning—approximately $900.00, for a total of about $3,000.

That places Y-12 at slightly more than the half-way point in its drive to reach the goal assigned.

The brisk drive last week fell on Y-12 like a Notre Dame tackle plunging on a loose football. It was set off by an extra edition of The Y-12 Bulletin bearing the streamer headline: "Y-12 Must Not Fail."

Copies of this extra, the first ever issued by the paper, were rushed to every building and office in the plant. It related how how Y-12 was lagging in the Chest campaign and pointedly reminded its readers how every appeal for a worthy cause had been met in the past through the generosity of Y-12 employees.

Distribution of the paper by Y-12 girls was followed by another group of women employees bearing new pledge cards. The appeals of the solicitors was accompanied by loud speaker announcements stressing the needs of the Chest and stating just why Y-12's should generously contribute. Can Pay Or Pledge

It was pointed out that contributors could either give cash outright or make a pledge for the amount they wished to donate. This sum could be paid later and be spread over one or more pay days. No payroll deductions are made in the drive.

Then the adding machines began clicking in tabulating the preliminary results of the intensive campaign.

These results showed several departments had reached the 100 per cent mark in contributions. They included Material Control, Product, Safety, Industrial Services and others. Previously the Janitors had compiled 100 per cent to the Chest appeal. Reputation At Stake

Those in charge of the Chest drive in Y-12 have announced that efforts will not be slackened until the assigned goal is reached. They again point out that the Y-12 reputation for supporting a worthy cause is second to none in the nation and that to retain that reputation and not to lag behind other Oak Ridge groups Y-12 folks must dig down still deeper into their pockets and support the Chest movement.

Meanwhile, it was announced in Oak Ridge last week that slightly more than $40,000 of the $63,844 sought by the Chest had been given or pledged. In the returns made several groups were reported at well over the 100 per cent mark in the matter of raising their quotas.

So that Y-12 may take its (Continued on Page 3)

Security Alertness Urged Of All In Y-12

Constant efforts are being made by persons especially trained in espionage to obtain the "know how" of operations in Y-12. As a result, every employee of Y-12 must remain alert to prevent unauthorized disclosures of vital information.

Regardless of the amount of information published, which sometimes leads to the belief that "secrets" no longer exist, there remains a large amount of pertinent "restricted data" that would be necessary for any persons to have if they would construct an atomic bomb.

Must Assume Responsibility

Security forces of Y-12 are continually striving to strengthen the policies in effect throughout the Atomic Energy Commission to combat constant threats against the national safety. In order to carry out this program it is necessary for every employee to assume a certain amount of responsibility toward security.

In this respect, all Y-12 employees are urged to closely check the identity and purpose of anyone seeking or spreading information concerning Y-12 operations. Avoid giving out information to persons that do not need such knowledge to accomplish their job assignments.

Rumor Spreading Dangerous

Spreading of rumors is one of the most potent known means of sabotage and every Y-12 employee is cautioned against such action.

Every Y-12 employee must know the security requirements of his own particular job. Any employee in doubt about the authority of any person to have vital information is urged at once to check with his Supervisor or the Security Office, North Portal, telephone 7994.

Y-12 Cafeteria Will Operate One Shift After Thursday

Dr. Scofield practiced medicine in Columbus, Ohio, his home town, where he shared offices with his uncle, Dr. Robert B. Drury, noted surgeon and at one time part owner of the Boston Red Sox baseball team. Receiving his degree in medicine in 1925 at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, Pa., he spent two and a half years with that college's hospital as resident physician before returning to Columbus.

Received Notre Dame Degree

Dr. Scofield received a bachelors degree in literature in 1920 at the University of Notre Dame. But his college career at the famed South Bend, Ind., school was interrupted by his service in the First World War at Fort Sheridan, Ill., where he was commissioned a second lieutenant in infantry and assigned to bayonet instruction.

In a reminiscent mood, Dr. Scofield recalled a chemistry class incident at Notre Dame which so well illustrates the blunt and interesting personality of the famous football coach Knute Rockne. The Notre Dame mentor was at that time the chemistry instructor. "I'm going to call on the dumbbells first," said Rockne upon opening a class session. "What do you know, Scofield," he asked. "Nothing," responded Paul Scofield. "Just what I thought," replied the great Rockne.

Played Baseball Under Rockne

Soon after, Rockne became the school's athletic head, replacing Jesse Harper, and Scofield played on the Notre Dame varsity baseball team coached by the great

Wheat Once Led Tennessee Crops

When wheat became one of the largest cash crops in the 1830's, flour milling became the most important industry in Tennessee. In 1845, competition from the Middle West prairie regions caused wheat to be abandoned as a major crop in this state. Later it was discovered that Tennessee's hard wheat made a damp-resisting flour that remained sweet during baking.

Do Not Start Fires With Gasoline

Do not use kerosene or gasoline to start fires in stoves, warns the National Fire Protection Association. Such flammable liquids, the statement says, are treacherous in that they may be used at times without accident when atmospheric conditions may not be right for an explosion. However, properly mixed with air, the explosive power of a pint of gasoline has been likened to that of two sticks of dynamite.

Chest Goal Half Met; 'Dig Deeper' Is Word

(Continued from Page 1) rightful place among the Oak Ridge leaders in answering the call of the Chest, it is urged that those employees who have not yet contributed to the campaign do so at once.

The worthiness of the causes espoused by the Chest—care of the sick, assistance to the needy, hot lunches for school children who need them and carrying on the Boy Scout and Girl Scout projects—have never been questioned. Any questions on the details of the needs of the various programs carried in the Chest budget will gladly be given by Chest solicitors.

Dr. Paul D. Scofield Made Medical Director In Y-12

Dr. Scofield continued his interest in sports after coming to Oak Ridge by serving as team physician for the Oak Ridge Boxing Academy. He attends all the boxing class sessions and the shows staged by the school. His other sports interest is fishing; and he really practices what he preaches about this outdoor activity being great for relaxation purposes. About every weekend Dr. Scofield and a fishing pal head for Douglas Lake.

Contributed To Industrial Medicine A membership in the American Association of Industrial Physicians and Surgeons granted Dr. Scofield was based largely on his part, with Dr. Flack of K-25, in a valued contribution to the field of industrial medicine by perfecting a technique for healing of hydrofluoric acid burns. He has also been a member of the American College of Surgeons since 1931 and belongs to the Roane County Medical Society, the State Medical Association of Tennessee, and the American Medical Association.

Combining knowledge of medicine with writing, Dr. Scofield has contributed many articles to medical journals; among them being "Regional Anesthesia For Prostatectomy" and "Spinal Anesthesia" which were both published in the Ohio State Medical Journal. Another article published in the same journal was entitled "The Gold Headed Cane." Other articles published included "Gallstones In The Duodenum," "True Saccomatous Change In A Uterine Fibroid," "Multiple Perforated Gastric Ulcers Following Gastro-Jejunostomy For Dodenel Ulcer," "Traumatic Cyst Of The Pancreas," "Endometriosis Of The Abdominal Wall," "A Few Brief Points on Hysterectomy," "Case Report of Large Ovarian Cyst," and "Blood Transfusion."

Dr. Scofield resides with his wife at 109 Powell Road, and they are the parents of two daughters and a son, and grandparents of three granddaughters. The doctor says the grandchildren are spread evenly among the two daughters and son but that he keeps hoping for a grandson who might be a candidate for a future Notre Dame football team.

Young Scrappers Gather--Have Fun-- Socko!

Records Fall In Plant League; Calutrons Lose But Hold Lead

Pins and records tumbled in wild abandon last Thursday night at the Grove Alleys as the Y-12 Plant League bowlers staged a field day paced by the Big'uns who set a season's three-game series handicap record of 3,030. The Big'uns over-powered the Chemicals, taking two points and also chalking up highs for the night with a 833 single scratch game and 1,089 for a handicap stanza. The Comets zoomed to a tie with the Bottom Busters for the runnerup spot behind the league-leading Bums by skinning the Wolves for two points.

Six bowlers broke into the 200 class with Schultz of the One-91s getting a 211 scratch game; Burns, Chemicals, 209; Bethea, Wood Butchers, 203; and Tibbatts, Rippers; Moore of the Bums, and Duncan, Big'uns, all three chalking 200s.

The Calutrons dropped three to the climb-conscious Scotties but continue top riding in the D Area Bowling League after last Tuesday night's rolling at the Jefferson Alleys. The Calutrons are sporting a present record of 17 wins and seven losses. The Strikers made it a 14-10 deadlock of second place with the Scotties by taking the Overheads for a trio. The pert Old Men hopped from seventh to the fifth rung as a result of shaving three points off the Splinters.

The Scotties' three-point victory over the mighty Calutrons came as a result of highest handicap score for the night of 914, 1,035 and 1,008, total 2,957. Duncan of the Scotties tumbled the timber for a 225 high scratch and a 564 three-game series total, and a high handicap game of 254 for a 651 total. Teammate Tibbatts ranked second with a scratch game of 205 and total of 509.

Ludwig Holds Ridge Golfing Course Record

A gallery of more than 500 watched Tommy Wright, Knoxville professional, shoot luckless golf in negotiating a 42 in opening day ceremonies of the Oak Ridge Golf Club. Scores were closely bunched in the Wright fivesome as Woody Allen, Lenoir City, shot a low of 39; Curtiss Roberts, of Knoxville, a 40; Ballard Beasley, Oak Ridge pro, a 41; and Maurice Carter of K-25 a 45.

Floyd Ludwig, Y-12's Carbide links champion, tied Allen's score the following day by also getting a 39 which stands as an unofficial course record for the new Oak Ridge Golf Club. Ludwig was off to a good start from the first tee when he elected to drive over the trees instead of dog-legging it and ended up just 35 yards short of the green on the 373-yard hole.

Mort Smith, of K-25, won first prize in the hole-in-one contest by putting a tee shot six feet, two inches of the pin. John Gost, also of K-25, was best in the driving contest with a 271-yarder. About 750 attended the debut of the new club, the number being composed of members, guests and spectators who had free access to the course for that day.

"So you long for the patter of tiny feet on the floor?" asked one husband of another.
"Yet," the other replied, "my mother-in-law is afraid of mice and maybe she would go home."

Y-12 Tag Gridders Hold Foes To One Touchdown In Two Tilts

Mal Wallis' Y-12 gridgers failed to advance in the CEW Touch Football League standings but lost no prestige in holding two opponents last week to one lone touchdown. They fought a bitter scoreless standoff against the AEC Patrol October 20, and held K-25's 1946 championship team to seven points in last Thursday night's fracas.

After the first five minutes when K-25 scored its lone touchdown, Y-12 outplayed their Carbide brethren and threatened in the second and fourth periods. A five-yard penalty nullified Y-12's first down negotiated deep within the K-25 20-yard line. The second scoring opportunity came in the fourth after McPherson had intercepted a K-25 pass on their 25-yard stripe and took the pigskin to the 12. But there the Y-12 offense bogged down.

Ray Murray, at left end for Y-12, played a whale of a game on the offense; his consistent breakthroughs and rushing of K-25 passers threw the enemy's offensive out of gear. Y-12 should climb a few notches in the Wednesday night game against Roane-Anderson and Thursday's encounter against the last place AEC Luckies. Both tussles are set to start at 7:15 o'clock at Oakwood Park.

League standing follows:

Eight Y-12 Lads Show Up Well On Ring Card

Clever footwork, skillful feinting, punctuated by rugged glove-throwing, featured most all the young fry boxing matches held Friday night October 12 at the high school gymnasium in which eight sons of Y-12 employees appeared on the 20-bout bill of the Oak Ridge Boxing Academy show.

These ring proteges and Y-12 sons were Jay Whitcomb, Ed Bagley, Jr., Donnie Lavers, David Reuff, Richard Tucker, Tommy Tibbatts and Feller and Nelson Rucker. All gave a good account of themselves in displaying the results of good coaching by the school's eight-man staff. None of the boys needed urging by Referee Nelson Betha to mix it up, for it was hammer and tongs from the sound of the gong.

Arnold Tiller, Y-12 Recreation Supervisor, handled the mike in announcing the bouts in the absence of Leo Dalton of K-25. All of the spectators waxed enthusiastic over the matches and were especially complimentary over the sportsmanship exhibited.

The academy will stage its second show of the 1947 season the early part of next month, it was announced by Bethea, the school's dean. Bethea also said that the regular Saturday morning training classes would in the future be held at the Pine Valley School gymnasium.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT IS SET

Y-12 contract bridge-playing employees have the opportunity of matching wits in open competition in the announcement that an Oak Ridge championship tourney will be held Saturday, November 1, in the East Lounge of Ridge Hall. The matches will be two-game sessions with play being limited to couples, starting at 1:45 p.m. and again at 7 p.m.

Oak Ridge Golf Club Auspiciously Opens Course With Large Attendance
